

HUMAN SERVICES DISASTER PREPAREDNESS SUMMIT

Additional Resources for All Hazards Planning

<http://emergency.cdc.gov/> - Center for Disease Control and Prevention site is intended to increase the Nation's ability to prepare for and respond to public health emergencies.

Highlight: <http://emergency.cdc.gov/preparedness/> - Content reflects a partnership between CDC and the American Red Cross to answer common questions and provide step by step guidance for protecting you and your loved ones.

<http://www.fema.gov/> - Federal Emergency Management Administration provides a number of gateways with content geared toward specific audiences, such as kids, government, and emergency personnel.

Highlight: <http://www.fema.gov/areyouready/> - Getting Ready for Disaster video guides viewers through steps of disaster preparedness.

<http://www.dhs.gov> – Department of Homeland Security's site provides information on a broad spectrum of homeland security topics.

<http://www.ready.gov/> - Ready America is the Department of Homeland Security's site that contains preparedness guides and planning tools with content specific to individuals, businesses, and children.

Highlight: <http://ready.adcouncil.org/beprepared/fep/index.jsp> - Create a family plan using interactive tool.

<http://www.floridadisaster.org/> - Florida Division of Emergency Management provides resources for individuals, families, and businesses.

Highlight: <http://www.kidsgetaplan.com/> provides stories, activities, and downloads for communicating disaster preparedness to youth.

<http://www.pinellascounty.org/emergency/> - Pinellas County Department of Emergency Management provides county-specific information, such as shelter locations and evacuation zone look-up, as well as resources related to preparing, mitigation, response, and recovery.

Highlight: Host home toolkit <http://www.pinellascounty.org/emergency/PDF/HostHome.pdf>. Level C (Cat 3) affects almost 50% of the population or about 450,000 people will need to evacuate Pinellas.

<http://www.redcross.org/> (National) <http://www.redcrosstbc.org> (Tampa Bay Chapter) offer authoritative guides to help create an all hazards preparedness plan.

Highlight: Disaster preparedness guide for seniors by seniors.

<http://www.citizencorps.gov> - Citizen Corps works on education, training, and volunteer service to make communities safer, stronger, and better prepared to respond to the threats of terrorism, crime, public health issues, and disasters of all kinds.

Highlight: <http://www.citizencorps.gov/cert/> - Community Emergency Response Teams can assist others in their neighborhood or workplace following an event when professional responders are not immediately available to help.